The Fund was instituted in the year 1836 to afford immediate pecuniary relief to distressed members of the profession, their widows or orphans; and to grant annuities to the aged among them. The extent to which these objects have been attained may be estimated from the fact that during the past year £2134 was granted in relief of urgent distress to 170 applicants, the majority of whom no other resource was open, and who had dependent upon them upwards of 300 children; and that besides this, the Fund has distributed £938 10s amongst 48 annuitants. In addition to the relief afforded to the aged, blind, sick, and helpless, this Fund has aided in the education and placing in situations of orphans, has given timely help to struggling widows and families by which they have tided over temporary difficulties which would otherwise have overwhelmed them, and has, in many instances, enabled medical men, reduced to poverty by misfortune, to resume practice and support their families.

The Committee earnestly appeal to the Profession at large for renewed aid, by which the benefits of the Fund may be extended, and beg to direct attention to the principles on which the Fund is managed. Applicants for relief or annuities have not the trouble and expense of a canvass, or the pain of publicity. Relief is given as promptly as possible. The only expenses are for printing, postage, and stationery, and the Collector's percentage. The Committee meet at four P.M. on last Tuesday of every month, except September, to receive applications; and when the evidence to character and the reality of the distress is thoroughly satisfactory, a sum proportionate to urgency of the case and the means at the disposal of the Committee, is voted, and sent either once or in instalments. Annuitants are elected by the Committee on their merits only.

Subscriptions will be received by the Treasurer, Hon. Secretaries, or Collector, or by any of Members of Committee in London or Honorary Local Secretaries elsewhere.

This Society was formed in the year 1788, by Drs. T. Denman, R. Denison, A. Douglas, J and J. Squire, and Messrs. W. Chamberlaine and T. Rendall, with the object of establi brotherhood for relieving, half-yearly, those Widows and Orphans of its deceased Membe might need assistance.

It unites the advantages of a Provident with those of a Benevolent Society. It is Provi by the small yearly subscription of Two Guineas the Members do, through it, protect th families from destitution, should they unexpectedly need it; and it is Benevolent, as its ben conferred only on those who are left in indigent circumstances.

The Society has been greatly assisted by legacies and contributions from Members and and has especially to acknowledge the gracious patronage of various members of the Royal
